The 20th Annual Instructors Academy

Brings together the best Defensive Tactics trainers from Law Enforcement, Corrections, Military, Protective Services and Security to establish a standard of training that gives all operators a common set of skills, and a common language to communicate those skills, within a hostile operating environment. By utilizing a “building block” methodology, U.S.N.S.T.A. instructors are able to deliver training where each aspect carries over from one discipline to the next, allowing for the transfer of maximum amounts of content in short periods of time with increased retention.

The instructor development training seminars are designed to help trainers put all their training programs into an integrated system of use of force training. The conference provides tools to optimize their current training programs by emphasizing the importance of maintaining the tools and skills they already possess as well as provides a format for packaging them into practical programs that meet their agency’s training requirements.

TOPICS OFFERED:

• ARREST CONTROL TACTICS

Defensive Tactics Training based on the M.A.C.H.™ (Mechanical Advantage Control Holds) Training System addressing passive resisters, protesters and / or non-compliant subjects.

• OFFICER SELF-DEFENSE TRAINING

Survival Tactics Training covers unexpected sudden and violent attacks from extremely aggressive attackers. These drills are designed to protect the officer and others from bodily harm. This training coincides with Arrest Control Tactics

• COMBATIVE COUNTER MEASURES TRAINING

This training concentrates on officer survival in hands-on situations that continue beyond the initial attack. These advanced hand-on drills are designed to develop hand / eye coordination and teaches the officer how to deploy other Use of Force options.

PRESENTERS
